Bryan S. Silverman is an Associate in Lubin Olson's Litigation and Construction Law Practice Groups. He has a commercial litigation practice, with emphasis on real estate and construction matters.

Mr. Silverman represents property owners and construction firms in construction claims involving delay, defective design and engineering, and unforeseen site conditions. He also has experience representing property owners, real estate professionals, homeowners associations, and individual directors in a wide array of general commercial and professional liability matters.

Before joining Lubin Olson, Mr. Silverman practiced with Murphy, Pearson, Bradley & Feeney in San Francisco.
